

DANIEL ZOVATTO

Doctorate in international law from the Universidad Complutense de Madrid, and a Master's degree in Public Administration from Harvard University's John F. Kennedy Government School. Visiting professor to different universities in Latin America, Europe and North America.

Regional director for Latin America with the International Institute for Democracy and Electoral Assistance (International IDEA). He has been executive director of the Inter-American Human Rights Institute's Electoral Advice and Promotion Center; executive secretary of the Association of Electoral Organizations of Central America and the Caribbean, of the Association of Electoral Organizations of South America and of the Inter-American Union of Electoral Organizations.

Author and co-author of several books about human rights, elections and democracy in Latin America.